BLACK NECKLACE FOUND.

Mary Queen of Scots Lost it at the Scaffold.

After many centuries, and in a curious way, a historic necklace of black pearls, which Queen Mary of Scots wore on the morning of her execution at Fotheringhay Castle, has been recovered in a romantic way. From that morning, when, at the foot of the scaffold, the ill-fated queen displayed her jewels and money among her friends, the black pearl necklace had been lost sight of, and was only recently unearthed in an old curiosity shop in a small village in Scotland. The keeper of the shop parted with the pearls to a lady customer for 12s. 6d., but there was then nothing to indicate their real value. Now experts have declared that they are incomparable, and, in fact, they have been resold for no less a sum than £16,000 (about $40,000). It seems that a short time ago a lady, riding her bicycle in Scotland, accidentally broke the chain by which her eyeglasses were suspended. Remembering that in a little shop she had seen a few strings of beads, and other trifles dear to youthful village maidens, she rode there to see if she could find anything to replace her broken chain. She found nothing to serve her purpose, and was on the point of leaving, when the old lady behind the counter said: "I have got an old necklace that might do but it is much more expensive. Shall I fetch it for you?"

A necklace of rather large, dull-looking "beads" was produced. It did not seem to be quite what she wanted, but the expert workmanship of the clasp took the lady's fancy and for the sum of twelve shillings and sixpence she became its owner, and to it attaching her eyeglasses, she resumed her ride. To her purchase she attached but little importance, but being one day in London, a friend admired the "beads," not a little, and expressed a wonder as to where such a pretty string had come from. It so chanced that shortly afterwards the owner of the "beads" had occasion to visit the shop of a dealer in antiques, her object being the purchase of a grandfather clock, and while there she showed her "beads" to the dealer, asking him what he thought of them. After a short inspection, the dealer became quite animated, fingering such "beads" in turn, and asking so many questions as to how and when the lady had become their owner, that her curiosity was completely aroused. Subsequently the "beads" were submitted to a jeweller and his interested inquiries served to confirm the owner's impression that her possession was positively of rare value, and the impression was strengthened when she was offered £5,000 for the string. This offer was declined, and instead the string was submitted to an acknowledged expert in matters connected with antiquities and ancient jewellery. Here a brief examination of the "beads" and a look at a book of reference, were sufficient.

This, in a moment, is the string of black pearls worn by Mary Queen of Scots on the day of her execution. The pearls have suffered by neglect, but if you buy them from you, should you wish to sell them, for about thousand pounds. I shall resell them at a profit to a customer if you accept my offer which remains open for your consideration as long as you please."

The lady accepted the offer, and shortly afterwards this old shop took on its little "black pearl" which was equally delighted and astonished to receive a cheque for one thousand pounds.

Queer Ideas of Arithmetic.

In a village churchyard in Worcester, there is one, or used to be, a tombstone stating the age of the deceased of the tomb below to be 304. The mason apparently had the crudest notions of the mysteries of arithmetical notation.

Oddly enough, to the present day we would find in Burma 100 90 11 used for the year 1910, this being a case of an admixture of an old notation with modern symbols. The same kind of admixture of new and old is taught in the indigenous monastic schools of Tibet, and is prevalent all over India among the Hindu astrologers. In the purely native schools Indian children are said to learn their multiplication tables up to 100 times 10.

Teachers in our own elementary schools may bless their fortunate that they are not called upon to listen to such a nerve-racking drone. "Twice two are four," up the numbers just mentioned. Even in the Government schools of the United Provinces the children had to learn up to 40 times 40 until a few years back.

Beautiful, But Dangerous.

The laburnum is a beautiful tree. Unfortunately, however, like many other beautiful things, laburnum blossom is dangerous. The long, yellow flowers and the seeds which presently take their place on coarsely poisonous strings are powerful that a hundredth part of a grain ingested under the skin of a cat or a dog is sufficient to cause its death. In ten seeds of laburnum there is sufficient poison to kill a child, and there are a number of cases on record of death from this cause. Also the laburnum exercises an evil effect upon the vegetable world. The gardener will find you that flowers will not flourish in the ground about a laburnum tree.—London Globe

"Yes, but she has retired," returned the doctor.

"Can I leave this for her, said?" "Certainly," said the doctor.

He took the bundle, from which flowers and buds were protruding, and after bidding the man good night, carefully carried it to the kitchen, where he deposited it, paper and all, in a pan of water.

The doctor thought nothing more of the affair until he heard Matilda's angry voice raised in conversation with the maid.

KEEN RIVALRY AMONG WESTERN CITIES—BIDDING BRISK

For C. P. R. Shops—No Decision Given Yet. Port Arthur and Fort William Made a Joint Offer.

Sir William Whyte says it is impossible to locate There—Close race between Calgary and Medicine Hat.

Winnipeg—The contest among western cities as to which will secure the proposed new shops of the Canadian Pacific Railway still goes merrily on.

The C. P. R. is being besieged with letters and telegrams from parties interested and there is much rivalry among various centres as to which will land the coveted shops. No sooner does one municipality come up with a big offer than its nearest competitor goes one better and so the bidding is quite brisk. Recently local officials were approached to see if they could give any information that would allay the suspense but they had nothing to make public other than that the matter was under consideration and that a decision would soon be rendered.

From the distance it looks as though the matter rested between Calgary and Medicine Hat. The cities of Port Arthur and Fort William made a joint bid for the shops, but Sir William Whyte, the Vice-President of the C. P. R., states that it would be impossible to make advantageous use of a location east of Alberta, as by the time the shops are built the company will have ready for them about 500 locomotives in its territory between the mountains and the western Manitoba boundary.

Sir William, did not turn the Lake Superior cities down without a ray of hope, however, as he stated that he considered the cities' terminal point at the head of the lakes, an ideal spot for car building shops and intimated that the company might soon be open to discuss the site of locating car works there.

With Port Arthur and Fort William out of the running either Calgary or Medicine Hat will probably get the shops. Bassano had hopes that their bid of clean water-power might prove the best blood, but in her next letter she calls him John.—Detroit Free Press.

That's queer. "What is?" "Last week my daughter wrote me from the summer resort that she is engaged to a man named Frank, and in her next letter she calls him John."—Detroit Free Press.

"We think a lot of that man. He has done much for our town."

"America is setting the pace for us all," confessed Bismarck, "because her leaders know the value of time." Millions of dollars are being poured into the building of a steel plant—to clip a few seconds off the making of a steel rail.

Wherever time is measured by minutes and seconds, instead of hours—the HOWARD is the court of final appeal.

The HOWARD has class—it has quality and character. In accuracy, design and finish it shows the dominant spirit of America's leaders.

It has traditions and a history that Americans are proud of. Every HOWARD is made and adjusted as a fine watch—care and time in its own case by the HOWARD watch-makers. Printed ticket face the price—$40 to $750. We carry this distinctive watch and would be glad to show it to you.

Mixed Farming

In certain sections of this western country, it would seem that it is almost impossible for farmers to place absolute dependence upon the securing of a good crop.

If such be the case, then so far as those districts are concerned, we think that mixed farming cannot too strongly be advocated. It has already been proven that the most successful farmers are those who in addition to the cultivation of crops have raised stock, such as horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, &c.

The objection has been made that the raising of stock involves too heavy an expenditure, especially to the man whose capital is strictly limited. Would it not be better though, if a man under such circumstances cultivated a little less land, and invested some of that money (which would otherwise be expended) in a few good milk cows? Cream and butter always find a cash market, and the returns are practically sure. Besides milk cows, there are horses, sheep and hogs, any or all of which are good revenue producers.

We have often wondered that the raising of sheep should receive so little attention from the farmers in our own district, and we hope the day is not far distant when sheep culture will commend itself largely to them. Home mutton is more to be desired any time than Australian, and the prices are sufficiently good to encourage the sheep industry.

Of course it is true, that there is a certain amount of risk attached to the raising of stock but the element of risk enters into everything. Where a man engages in mixed farming, it is not at all likely that a bad year will severely cripple him. There may be a serious crop shortage, in which event he has his stock to fall back on. It rarely happens that a farmer is so unfortunate with his stock that he is forced to depend entirely upon his crop. Our opinion based upon information volunteered by various farmers of repute in the district is, that raising of stock is an indispensable asset which must enter into the reckoning of every successful farmer.

Farming is the basic foundation of our country, and upon it depends the weakness or strength of its superstructure.

It has occurred to us that there should be some society formed in the nature of a Farmers "Council," where subjects of vital importance to farmers could at regular intervals be discussed.

This would bring us together as a farming community, and perhaps be the means of helping us to arrive at a solution of some of the problems that confront us. A meeting held once a month with a systematic program arranged, could, we think, accomplish a great deal that would be highly desirable.

Hail Storm

The most severe hail storm in years struck the Didsbury district on Sunday afternoon which was pretty much general throughout the district, and while the damage is probably not quite so bad to the west of Didsbury as to the east, in places it was bad enough to cause a total failure of the grain crop. To the east of Didsbury it only did slight damage to some, while in some places hail stones up to one inch in diameter and the size of a large hen egg swept the fields almost bare and broke window glass exposed to the wind and killing chickens and other fowl unable to obtain shelter. The storm has visited almost the whole district, as far as heard from, from the Little Red Deer river on the west to Sunnyslope on the east, a distance of over forty miles, with here and there, for some cause, a strip or small piece of country not being damaged but slightly or which will prove not a total destruction of the crop. This is a great calamity to the man who has staked all in a crop of grain. But, gentlemen, the farmer who is selling milk will come to town as usual, sell his milk and get the cash for it. The man who has a bunch of steers to sell will turn them off on a good cash market also, and the man who keeps a bunch of cattle over the winter will pull through to spring without noticing very much difference on account of the hail storm.

Of course we are all in sympathy with the loser, and the loser includes nearly the whole community, but any way there is some luck in the fact that most farmers in this district are practicing mixed farming to some extent and have a bunch of stock to help them out in their great loss.

ADDRESSES CROWDED HOUSE ON RECIPROCITY

A large number attended the meeting on Thursday night last in the Opera House, when Dr. Clark, M. P., gave an address on "Reciprocity." Mr. Charles Peterson presided over the meeting with his accustomed dignity and introduced the speaker of the evening in a few brief remarks.

Addressing his audience in the capacity of a past rather than a present member, Dr. Clark dealt with the question of Reciprocity in an interesting manner, holding the close attention of his hearers for almost two hours.

Stating that the policy of the government was the traditional policy of the Canadian people since 1891, and quoting from Edward Blake that "Men, Money and Markets" were the elements most essential in building up of a country, the speaker proceeded to enlarge on his subject in a comprehensive way.

At the close of the address a vote of thanks was by acclamation accorded Dr. Clark and the meeting closed with the singing of the national anthem.

The arrangements for the meeting were not of the most satisfactory kind, and this was particularly noticeable when no mover and seconder of a vote of thanks had evidently been previously arranged for. As it was, a gentleman in the audience on his own initiative made a motion but his courteous action failed to find support from the quarters it might well have been expected.

The pile of water with its companion tin cup scarcely adorned the platform table! Could it be that the subject was regarded as so dry by those responsible?

A Bad Accident

A very severe accident occurred at the C. P. R. station here in a man employed in the bridge construction crew stationed here. While attempting to board the caboose of a freight which was switching in the yards he slipped, the wheels passing over his legs just below the knee. The accident happened just before the evening train left for the north and the man was sent to the hospital at Red Deer. His name was not ascertained so far as we have learned.

Edmonton, Aug. 8.—In a fur catch just brought down from the far north by Colin Fraser and Ben Hurrell, veteran independent fur traders, there were no less than 4,537 skins with a total valuation of about $25,000.

The city council of Calgary has taken steps toward protecting Calgary from coal famine during the coming winter by entering into a contract with the Pittsburgh Coal Co. for a supply of 3,000 tons of Pennsylvania coal at $12.40 per ton. Two hundred tons will be rushed there at once. The coal will be retailed to citizens at $13.50, actual cost delivered, and it is probable contracts for a larger supply will be entered into before the winter is over.
